Dear Residents

Siena is at a crossroads as a community again. We have a large influx of new residents who continue to infuse new life, ideas and enthusiasm into the neighborhood and our lives. We also have residents that are experiencing many annual events for the third time. Siena has had three Super Bowl Parties, three Oscar dinner party's, three St. Patrick's Day events, three is the operative number this year.

What makes this mixing of the old and the new so exciting is the diversity it brings and the parallel it brings to mind with our Nation. Often times we are confronted as a country with new people who want to live in America and how the nation should deal with them. Our history is that of success because we are an open nation but this success comes with a huge price and with great sacrifice. No matter how hard we tried we have not always lived up to our ideals in dealing with the new groups. New ideas and people often face difficult circumstances in their living conditions and their personal lives. Many cultures that now represent the "mainstream" went through these difficult times at the turn of the Century and other cultures are experiencing this predicament now.

That leads me to how do we treat our newcomers here at Siena? Are we doing a good job as a community in welcoming those that are just crossing the gates? Are we helping them establish roots in their new home?

The Association holds newcomer events to orient new buyers with how the Association operates. The homeowners that serve on the welcome committee help put together a package of what a new Siena should expect. There are many differences in the experiences that residents have moving in today versus those that moved in three years ago. Most of these differences are positive. I-215 is open. You can get to Flamingo & Buffalo. Costco is open. The Fitness Center is open. A lot has changed.

What makes a community special is more than mortar, bricks and asphalt though. What separates Siena is the ability of its members to welcome the newcomers unconditionally, as they were welcomed. One may liken this homecoming as being similar to that of a long lost sibling. Many of you come here with a wealth of life's experience and want to continue to do some of the things that you have enjoyed your whole life, swimming, walking, aerobics, dancing, card playing, golf. However, there are a number of you that have either been too busy to get into one hobby or another or are simply looking to try something new. It is the trying of something new, to experience the things you have never done before, that is a big part of the promise of Siena. How are we doing on this scale? Are we as a community, as clubs, as residents, as an Association welcoming the new folks? Are we welcoming the person who is willing to learn? That has never gone to an aerobics class? Played your card game? Played your instrument? Played golf? Are you willing to help those like you were once helped?

The answer to these questions will define what type of community Siena is. I think I know the answer, do you? Let's continue to work together to make this a place where all residents are welcome.

Siena Golf Club

As you all know we will be opening our clubhouse this month. We are so excited for the opening of the Siena Bistro and the creations of Executive Chef, Matt Isham. The Siena Golf shop will also have many new selections and ample stock of both men's and women's apparel. Please be sure to stop by and check us out.

Our homeowner volume is increasing by leaps and bounds. We value your patronage and we want to provide all of our homeowners with a private club atmosphere not only in quality of the golf course but in our quality of service as well. We will be offering the Spring Homeowner Clinic and Golf Outing this month. Please contact me in the golf shop for starting date and signup. We will also be holding several golf events throughout the remainder of this year. Please help us with any suggestions that you might have.

On a safety note, I have noticed many homeowners walking on the golf course in the morning and late in the afternoon. While it is agreed that there is no more beautiful place to take a walk than on the golf course, walking or riding bikes on the golf course is prohibited.

LET'S SUMMER-IZE

I know we just started Spring but it sure feels like Summer. Here are a few basic tips you may already be aware of to make your warm-weather days more enjoyable:

- Have your landscape maintenance company reset your watering system. Watering should be done in the early morning hours before the sun gets brutal. This allows the water to sink into the earth rather than evaporate away. Check out the guide in the back of your Homeowner Manual from the Las Vegas Valley Water District.
- Consider hiring an exterminator to keep unwanted bugs from escaping the heat by entering your home through small openings.
- Have your Air Conditioning system serviced. Keep in mind that the manufacturer requires you to have the units serviced regularly to keep the warranty in effect. Failure to have the system serviced can cause damage not covered by warranty. Routine servicing is not covered by your warranty and is the homeowner's responsibility.
- Keep window coverings closed during the heat of the day to reduce the impact of the sun. See page 11 of the Southwest Gas brochure in the back of your Homeowner Manual.
- Southwest Gas also recommends using the "fan ON" setting of your HVAC system. Keeping the fan on reduces the need for the cooling system to kick on and off and keeps air circulating. Ceiling fans can do the same thing. Don't use your exhaust fans for this as they can use up a whole house of cool air within 1 hour.
- Be careful - the water from your hoses and from the hose bibbs (faucets) will be very hot for several minutes until the lines clear. This is the same for the water lines in your home, since these are fed from the underground water lines just like the hose bibbs. Although it seems like a large waste of water while you wait for it to cool down a few seconds (it's usually no more than 2-3 gallons of water per minute), consider these usage facts from the water district. Brushing teeth - 6 gallons. Showering - 50 gallons. Shaving - 10 gallons. Dishwasher load - 16 gallons. Hand wash dishes - 3 to 15 gallons. Clothes washer - 45 gallons. Clean driveway - 50 gallons. Garden hose on full - 10 gallons per minute.
